

Geologist

As a Geologist you will see them in a completely different light. Geology is the science of the earth's crust and the layers of which it is composed and its history. By examining rocks and strata layers you will be able to understand the physical history of the area and what changes have occurred over millions of years. Individuals generally required a solid set of marks for Math's and Science and have an interest in Geography.