

Clinical psychology

The clinical psychologist usually works in hospitals or in private practice where he provides a diagnostic and therapeutic service to clients who are experiencing emotional and/or mental distress.